

IT IS ALL CHANCE IN LOCATING GOLD

A Newspaper Man Writes from the Klondike Country.
THE OLD MINERS ARE PUZZLED

Ground That Looks Like It Contains Gold Proves Worthless.

WHILE MUD SPOTS ARE BIG BONANZAS

Not One in Ten of the Prospectors Succeeded in Making Finds That Yield Much Gold.

San Francisco, September 1.—The Bulletin has received a letter from Charles Haines, dated Dawson City, July 26th. Mr. Haines is a well-known newspaper writer, and his letter is the first written by a trained newspaper man to come out of the Klondike gold region. He says: "The rich diggings have been comparatively idle during the summer, although the output from Eldorado and Bonanza creeks was famous, and there is plenty of gold in sight. There is every prospect of an immense output of gold from this district next spring. The total output this season is, as near as I can judge, about $7,000,000. But very little gold has been worked, and the dumps will, like some of the tailings of old California placers, pan out thousands of dollars worth of gold in the coming winter. The placers are all the more puzzling and deceiving I have ever seen. Imagine a man working on gold 'color' and finding the ground worth only a few dollars per day, and then turning to a waste of mud and moss with no surface indications, and unearthing a bonanza. That is the situation here and all over Alaska. The man who comes here to mine does so at the expense of health and happiness, and it is with him a question of making a fortune quickly or chances with death."

It Is All Chance.

"About me are scores of men who can weigh their gold by the bucketful, and value their claims at millions. Four hundred valuable diggings are strewn along creeks, and every digger is a rabid mine of gold. Yet there are weary men who have gone and returned to Dawson after searching the great country hereabouts, and never a single nugget to show for their toil, their long tramp over broken ground and into a country whose disadvantages are exceeded by no other place on earth. This Alaska northwest territory is an old prize drawing proposition that I can liken to nothing that admits of a better comparison than a lottery."

"A number of men are selected on the creeks and rivers, and for one year the miner labors. The year closes, the water runs and the season's output barely pays expenses. Not two miles away from the works a man who has taken an unrelenting bit of earth has a sack full of gold. The lucky one did not strike the pocket because of his ability as a miner; chance favored him, and that was all. In short, the miner guesses at it and locates any and everywhere. In nineteen cases out of twenty he misses it and has to wait a year for a new trial."

"Dawson is merely a collection of log huts, saloons and a mass of tents, about 600 hundred in number."

Suffering Will Be Fearful.

"When the long nights come and the glass goes down to 45 degrees below zero, there will be intense suffering here and I shudder to think of the results. "Provisions are going to be very scarce and there is little reason to doubt that the entire town will have to go on short rations during the winter and that scurvy will be rampant. The gold that will go down the river for San Francisco and Seattle will amount to about $2,000,000."

"There is a lot of gold that will remain in camp, for it is used as an equivalent of money and is kept ready at 47 per ounce. Of the three thousand or four thousand inhabitants, only a couple of hundred at the most have made big strikes. "There is plenty of work for men at $15 to $20 per day and many men have paid $2.50 or less for living and saved the balance. Reports of other strikes are constantly received here and many are authentic, so far as Stewart and Polk rivers are concerned, but nothing like so rich as the Klondike has been reported. Quite a number of people are preparing to leave here for Juneau in case the streamers cannot get through with provisions, and the outlook for a good grub supply is not encouraging. In conclusion, the Alaska and northwest territory gold fields will be developed slowly. "Ten thousand men may come here, but they will be lost in the vast country when they spread out to prospect. Not more than 50 of them will be carried direct. When they do strike pay gravel their fortunes will be made. In years to come, when at the sacrifice of human life and energy, the treasures of this great land are located, the wealth of the north will be something beyond comprehension."

President Polk in the White House chair, while in Lowell was Doctor Ayer; Both were busy for human weal. One to govern and one to heal. And, as a president's power of will. Sometimes depends on a liver-pill. Mr. Polk took Ayer's Pills I know For his liver, 50 years ago.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills were designed to supply a model purgative to people who had so long injured themselves with gripping medicines. Being carefully prepared and their ingredients adjusted to the exact necessities of the bowels and liver, their popularity was instantaneous. That this popularity has been maintained is well marked in the medal awarded these pills at the World's Fair 1893.

TRUSTEES OF THE TECH MEET

Held a Long Session Last Night and Transacted Much Business.

ONE NEW PROFESSOR ELECTED

School Found To Be in Fine Condition. Every Room in Knowles Dormitory Taken.

The board of trustees of the Georgia school of Technology met last night in the office of Mr. S. M. Inman and remained in session for about two hours. The meeting was one that was arranged for when the board met last June, and the meeting is always held before the opening of the Tech. A great many matters of importance relating to the school were considered and disposed of by the board.

The work done by the board was relatively small, and the meeting was mostly a matter of routine. The board of trustees of the Georgia school of Technology met last night in the office of Mr. S. M. Inman and remained in session for about two hours. The meeting was one that was arranged for when the board met last June, and the meeting is always held before the opening of the Tech. A great many matters of importance relating to the school were considered and disposed of by the board.

The trustees elected a new professor of English to be assistant in that department, but declined to divulge his name until he had accepted the position. It was announced that the new Knowles dormitory will be completed within the amount appropriated by the legislature, and that work on it will be concluded before the school opens on the 25th of this month. Yesterday afternoon the trustees visited the school and went through the dormitories and every building. They were very much pleased with the work that they saw and expressed themselves as being of the opinion that the school is at present in better condition than ever before. Mr. Porter, who is now in charge of the school, was also present.

Captain Hall stated that he believed the enrollment would reach and pass the two hundred mark this year.

The school opens on September 25th, and President Porter anticipates that it will be one of the most successful years ever experienced by the institution. From now on he will be at the school and receive visitors there.

ICE CREAM POISONS SIXTEEN.

Guests at a Little Girl's Birthday Party Are Suddenly Stricken.

As a result of a birthday party given last Thursday at the residence of Mrs. Charles Lemke sixteen persons have been suffering from the effects of poison and two of them are still dangerously ill. Every one of the merry makers who ate the cream served have been confined to their beds for at least one day. Mrs. Charles Lemke and his little daughter, who gave the party, are still suffering from the effects of the poison and are yet in danger.

Little Irene Lemke was thought to be dying on Saturday, but yesterday she was much better. Mr. Lemke, who is a harness maker, was confined to his bed three days from the poison and attempted to go to work at his harness shop on yesterday. The poison was contained in a cake of ice cream, and was served to the guests. In a few minutes the festival was broke up, half a dozen children began vomiting at the same time. Great concern was manifested. A physician was hurriedly summoned.

"I am a very sick man," said Mr. Lemke last night, "and have just gotten out of bed. My daughter is still very dangerously sick."

The persons who ate the cream and Lemke, Tresa, Bertie, Irene, Claude, and Carl Lemke, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schaefer, George, Furgerson, and Jimmie Schaefer, Misses Gene and Stella Gramling.

NOW WHAT WILL REPUBLICANS DO?

Said They Would Not Indorse a Candidate Named Too Early.

SETH LOW IS NOMINATED

Citizens' Union of Greater New York Puts Him Up for Mayor.

TWICE HELL THAT OFFICE IN BROOKLYN

Committee Appeared and Asked That Nomination Be Put Off Until the Convention.

New York, September 1.—In the face of the ultimatum of the regular republican organization that it would refuse to indorse any candidate for the majority of Greater New York who might be formally nominated in advance of the republican convention, the borough committee of the Citizens' Union today placed Seth Low, president of Columbia university and twice mayor of Brooklyn, in nomination for the office of mayor.

Proffered by the Citizens' Union a deputation conference representing the regular and Brooklyn republican organizations, the home rule and independent republican party, and the Brooklyn committee of fifty appeared and asked in the name of the conferees if it was the intention of the union to proceed to a nomination.

Swift Action Demanded.

Senator Phil Cook, chairman of the penitentiary committee of the senate, called his committee together for the 21st of September. As this is the date fixed by Chairman Hewlett Hall for the meeting of the house committee, the two committees will probably hold a joint session and begin at once the work of outlining a penitentiary system to take the place of the one which is now in operation, and which has called out so much adverse criticism and created so much dissatisfaction.

These penitentiary committees are made up of some of the best men in the legislature, and they will go about their duties with zeal and earnestness.

We observe that while Chairman Cook is in favor of a commission to manage the new penitentiary system, he is not in favor of making that board a creative body. The constitution was under the impression that, while Chairman Hall favored the appointment of a board to mature a plan and to put it in execution, his proposition did not contemplate legislation at the hands of such a board. Our interpretation of his suggestion was that a board should be appointed to mature a plan, this plan to be presented to the legislature for its approval, after which the new system was to be placed in charge of the board.

The legislature passed railway laws in 1877-78, and appointed a board of commission to mature a plan, and to put it in execution, and they will go about their duties with zeal and earnestness.

We observe that while Chairman Cook is in favor of a commission to manage the new penitentiary system, he is not in favor of making that board a creative body. The constitution was under the impression that, while Chairman Hall favored the appointment of a board to mature a plan and to put it in execution, his proposition did not contemplate legislation at the hands of such a board.

What has been said refers exclusively to the disposition of the felony convicts, and relates in no way to the misdemeanor convicts, who are at the present time the helpless victims of a bold and wholesale violation of the laws of the state. If promptness is necessary in the case of the felony convicts, who are subjected to small mistreatment that is not incidental and essential to their discipline, how much more necessary is it that there should be swift action with respect to the misdemeanor convicts who are illegally held, and who are subjected, with few exceptions, to treatment which is a disgrace to the state.

There is ample time in which to arrange for the permanent disposition of the felony convicts, for those well-being the state is responsible, but the condition of the misdemeanor convicts, described and exposed in the report of the governor's special commissioner, calls for immediate rescue. The emergency is of so serious and flagrant a character that deliberation is not necessary. The laws of the state have been openly, deliberately and systematically violated and the authority of the executive office defied.

Those who have offended in this matter have shown small consideration for the governor or for the good name and success of his administration. They have, in effect, sought to bring a serious reproach upon it. Under the circumstances we do not see why the governor should show the smallest consideration for those who have profited by a systematic violation of the law. We do not believe he will; but whatever he proposes to do should be done at once.

A Queen of Comedy.

In the death of Mrs. John Drew the American stage has lost one of its most unique and striking figures, and on both sides of the Atlantic the keenest sense of personal bereavement will be felt over the passing away of this peerless queen of comedy.

Endowed with peculiar histrionic gifts, Mrs. Drew attained by reason of her brilliant powers to the very topmost round of the dramatic ladder; and yet, in spite of the corrupting atmosphere of modern stage life, she easily maintained throughout her long professional career a reputation for unblemished purity of character which successfully rebuffed the tongue of slander and towered serenely above reproach.

Mrs. Drew attained to the ripe old age of seventy-six years. For nearly half a century she had figured in the public eye and ministered to the harmless enjoyment of countless patrons of the drama in both hemispheres. She belonged to the ante-bellum school of artists, which included in its blazing galaxy of members such luminaries of the stage as Edwin Forrest, John Wilkes Booth, Edwin Booth, Charlotte Cushman, William J. Florence and many others whose names are household words throughout the land. Of this old ante-bellum school of artists Joseph Jefferson is almost the sole remaining survivor. Other artists have come upon the stage and achieved the ovations of admiring crowds, but in fidelity to pure and simple ideas and in whole-some popularity based upon pure art, the members of the old ante-bellum school of artists can never be surpassed.

Had the stage of today more such workers as the lamented Mrs. John Drew, the character for purity would be much more highly rated. Peace to her ashes!

Governor O'Ferrall's Democracy.

The public just now must be considerably amused over the India rubber character of Governor O'Ferrall's democracy.

It was the hope of the executive of Virginia that, through the aid of these acting against the democracy last November, with a little intimidation and blarney mixed, he could induce the late democratic convention to abandon its principles and to go chasing after political rainbows. When the democracy met, however, they proved themselves too worthy of their state and worthy of the name of democrat, by standing up boldly for the Chicago platform, and the men who polled for the party a larger vote than was ever counted for it before. While it is admitted that the democracy is a party of views and fads of their own, still it is exacted that when the party speaks they should either be silent or retire from claims for political preferment. It would be well if Governor O'Ferrall, had he placed himself in one of the other of the classes, but with the latter characteristic of men who rush in where they are not wanted, he insisted upon posing as the leading democratic leader of Virginia who was not able to control things in his own party.

That he should come out now, after the nation's convention and the convention of his own state have spoken, and declare himself at enmity to the people from whom he has drawn every official honor he has won, is not surprising and is but characteristic of self-opinionated men who place themselves above party, above principle and above country. Virginia has not seen without men of the O'Ferrall stamp in previous history. She had her Mahone, and she finally relegated him to that obscurity which he deserved, and while she has to stand her O'Ferrall for a while, she will yet see the place made vacant by his distinguished predecessor, and the democracy of Virginia will march on to the triumphant music of the nation, totally oblivious of the small obstacle which places itself in its way.

South Carolina's Senatorial Choice.

Aside from the local and political issues concerned, the senatorial choice in South Carolina demands attention because of the new feature which it presents.

For years there has been a growing desire to bring the senate closer to the people. Whilst it has been the admitted democratic doctrine that the senators should represent the people, rather than the individual, yet it has been felt that the members of our upper body were becoming farther and farther removed from the people, and that they were not responsive to the opinions which should be made known to them.

Our interpretation of his suggestion was that a board should be appointed to mature a plan, this plan to be presented to the legislature for its approval, after which the new system was to be placed in charge of the board.

The legislature passed railway laws in 1877-78, and appointed a board of commission to mature a plan, and to put it in execution, and they will go about their duties with zeal and earnestness.

We observe that while Chairman Cook is in favor of a commission to manage the new penitentiary system, he is not in favor of making that board a creative body. The constitution was under the impression that, while Chairman Hall favored the appointment of a board to mature a plan and to put it in execution, his proposition did not contemplate legislation at the hands of such a board.

What has been said refers exclusively to the disposition of the felony convicts, and relates in no way to the misdemeanor convicts, who are at the present time the helpless victims of a bold and wholesale violation of the laws of the state. If promptness is necessary in the case of the felony convicts, who are subjected to small mistreatment that is not incidental and essential to their discipline, how much more necessary is it that there should be swift action with respect to the misdemeanor convicts who are illegally held, and who are subjected, with few exceptions, to treatment which is a disgrace to the state.

There is ample time in which to arrange for the permanent disposition of the felony convicts, for those well-being the state is responsible, but the condition of the misdemeanor convicts, described and exposed in the report of the governor's special commissioner, calls for immediate rescue. The emergency is of so serious and flagrant a character that deliberation is not necessary. The laws of the state have been openly, deliberately and systematically violated and the authority of the executive office defied.

Those who have offended in this matter have shown small consideration for the governor or for the good name and success of his administration. They have, in effect, sought to bring a serious reproach upon it. Under the circumstances we do not see why the governor should show the smallest consideration for those who have profited by a systematic violation of the law. We do not believe he will; but whatever he proposes to do should be done at once.

Government by Injunction.

It will not do to disregard the action of the laboring men who recently met in St. Louis, and whose declaration against government by injunction was as simple and as boldly put as any declaration that has been made.

Whenever a large class of our citizens are deeply moved the part of patriotism is to discover the extent of the grievances and the true remedy for their removal. This is a course which will result in building up a good citizenry and in making of a single lot of power conferred—since they have been conferred for wise purposes when wisely administered—yet judges should be very careful never to go to the extent of their power as long as there are other means left by which matters may be brought to a conclusion. In this land of frequent legal sessions, where the people have a full and quick appeal to their law-makers, it is much safer, much more patriotic to allow questions political in their character to take their appeal to the legislative branch rather than to shelter under the shadow of the courts.

The democratic national convention felt called upon to denounce the abuse of injunction by the courts. This denunciation was but the repetition of what no less a man than Thomas Jefferson had said but a century before, only that now we find ourselves suffering under the full force of what Mr. Jefferson was but a fear for the future.

No law abiding man should be taught to cower in fear when his judge passes by, but rather all should be taught that there goes a man in whom their rights and interests are safe, and at whose hands all may expect equal and exact justice.

It will not do to sneer at the protests which various bodies make against the abuse of the injunction power by courts. Our judges would be wise and our leading lawyers would be wise if they would consider this matter seriously, with a view of discovering other remedies rather than those which can be characterized as tyrannical, and look forward to a larger and more personal or temporary gain.

A Louisville paper says that Mr. Billy Chandler is preparing to be kicked out of the republican party. As a matter of fact, Mr. Chandler is merely trying to trim the ears of some of his party's leaders. And they should need it.

Mr. Low will have to confer with Platt before it is over. This means a good deal for Platt.

Senator Frye evidently believes that the 10 per cent tariff clause "jes' growed."

Hanna scouts the idea that Foraker is conferring with Hanna's enemies. And Hanna is right. Foraker had some conferences months ago, but he's a cured man now.

It seems that Mr. Whitney is going to give an "ultimatum" to Tammany. This is an interesting event.

The renomination of McLaurin in South Carolina is a well deserved tribute to a very able democrat.

Mr. Harry left the democratic party last year and now the Pennsylvania democrats have called him off his perch in the national executive committee.

PENITENTIARY DISCUSSION.

Hustler of Rome: Georgia, with her present system of chain-gangs, has no right to criticize Weyler's butchers. The Spaniards are inhuman, but they are others. Covington Star: The convict problem is again up for discussion and solution. The Star is still in favor of putting them on the roads, and building railroads and working the public highways.

Waycross Herald: The Georgia idea of a convict camp is too closely modeled upon the plan of the United States, and is a mere copy of the average American mind.

Harlem, Ga. Light: The convict question in this state has been discussed at length until his bones are aching. The proper thing to be done is to put in action some plan whereby the vexed question will be settled and place the convicts where they will be inhuman, but there are others. The next legislature will make some other disposition of the convicts than the present lease system where they will be accorded better treatment and the blot will be removed from the name of the Empire State of the South.

Greensboro Herald-Journal: It is suggested that the state purchase Sapelo Island for the purpose of establishing a penitentiary colony for the punishment of state convicts. This would be a decided improvement over the present system of leasing private lands.

Gainesville Eagle: Captain Phil Byrd, who was appointed by the governor to examine and report on the condition of the penitentiary system, has filed his report, in which he discloses a condition of things that puts to shame the horrors of Siberia or the cruelties of the most barbarous savages. The stigma of the disgraceful things Georgians must hang their heads in shame, and in applying the remedy there must be no delay.

DELEGATES TO ROAD CONGRESS.

Governor O'Ferrall Names Those to Represent Virginia.

Richmond, Va., September 1.—Governor O'Ferrall has appointed the following delegates to represent the state at the national roads parliament, which will convene in Nashville, Tenn., during the present month:

A. Large, N. B. Rowe, Fredericksburg; George B. Kessell, Rockingham; Joseph Bryan, Richmond; Robert C. Kent, Wythe; first district, Seth P. Miller and Benjamin Chambers, second district, J. W. Williams and Frank East, third district, R. D. James and R. A. Bowen, fourth district, R. S. Powell and R. W. Tuggle, fifth district, R. L. Anderson and E. W. Saunders, sixth district, J. C. Carrington and L. Randolph, seventh district, L. W. Mason and E. C. Johnson, eighth district, O. E. Smith and J. H. Harrison, ninth district, C. T. Richmond and Harold Matthews, tenth district, R. R. Witt and Silas H. Walker.

Found Under a Bed.

Waycross, Ga., September 1.—(Special).—A negro is wanted for killing a negro at Vickers's turpentine still, in Clinch county recently, has been captured and jailed here. He concealed himself under a bed in the house of Dave Jones, colored, and the officers found him. The sheriff of Clinch county was advised of the arrest and he said he would come tonight after the prisoner.

University's Science Hall.

Athens, Ga., September 1.—(Special).—The new science hall on the campus will not be completed until next October 1st. It will then require some time to equip it properly, and it will hardly be ready for use by the different departments until after the Christmas holidays, when one of the handsomest buildings in Georgia.

Athens, Ga., September 1.—(Special).—The city schools of Athens opened today with a large attendance. Superintendent Bond believes this year will be the most prosperous in the history of the schools. The attendance is in the neighborhood of 1,500, white and colored.

Just From Georgia.

The Way with Love.

When love shall say: "This is my way. Through lonely lands and hours. With weeping eyes, 'neath ruined skies, I pass—to the thorns or flowers. Love leads the way to the night. That makes a morning sweet with light. Far off the dawn appears. Resplendent in still skies; And love shall kiss away thy tears. And silence all thy sighs. Love only leads thee to the night. That makes a morning sweet with light!"

A Successful Young Author.

A little Georgia boy of ten bright years who worked as a call boy in a dry goods store and so contributed to the support of his widowed mother came home one evening and produced a newspaper in which the following advertisement appeared:

"We pay the best prices for stories, poems and all matter of interest to young readers."

"Then," he said, "why can't I become a writer and make lots of money for you?"

Woman and Society

Happy Women.

Impatient women, as you wait
In cheerful homes tonight to hear
The sounds of music to your ear,
Shall come as music to your ear.

Forget yourselves a little while,
And think in pity of the pain
Of women who will never smile,
To hear a coming step again.

With babes that in their cradles sleep,
Or cling to you in perfect trust,
Think of the mothers left to weep,
Their infants lying in the dust.

And when the step you wait for comes,
And all your world is full of light,
O women, safe in happy homes,
Pray for all lone-souled souls tonight.

A Notable Woman Gone.

A woman whose life illustrated a truth concerning which there is too much skepticism, i. e., that true womanhood may triumph over the follies and the freedom of the stage and reach its best development in the home. She is old Mrs. John Drew, whose Mrs. Malaprop and Widow Warren have become classics. Here in Atlanta there is hardly a man or woman who has not seen her. Mrs. Malaprop, the exquisite bit of stage art which portrays the painted, frowny, shallow, vain, illiterate old woman. It made her famous long ago, and she never tired of seeing it. She was on the stage for a great many years, and was with Joe Jefferson and Billie Florence much of the time. Hardly a year ago she gave her in New York at a charity performance, where she participated in the presentation of one act from "The Rivals."

Mrs. Malaprop, as a character of stage art, stood alongside of Joe Jefferson's ever famous and ever delightful Bob Acres. Mrs. Malaprop was a creation rarely equaled on the American stage, and made more familiar to the American theater-going public than any other single contemporary character of the stage.

Mrs. Drew was seventy-seven years old, and made her debut in Liverpool, when she was six years old. She was born in England, but was brought to America when she was seven years old. Her mother was an actress. Mrs. Drew made her first American appearance at the Walnut street theatre in Philadelphia. Her first stage name was that of Little Louisa Lane. When she was thirteen years old she became a member of the old Bowery Stock company. She was three times married—first to Henry Hunt, a noted vocalist, from whom she separated; later she married Mr. Masson, an Irish comedian, and in 1881 she married John Drew, who was a popular comedian.

Of recent months she made her home with her son, John Drew, who is one of the most successful actors on the American stage.

Bloodworth-Hardwick.

The marriage of Miss Mary Hardwick to Mr. Herbert Bloodworth takes place this evening at half-past 6 o'clock at Trinity church. The bridemaids are: Miss Edith Hardwick, Miss Helen Bloodworth, Miss Edith Bloodworth, Miss Helen Bloodworth, Miss Edith Bloodworth, Miss Helen Bloodworth. The groomsmen are: Mr. Will Cunningham, best man; John Hardwick, R. L. Turman, Paul Moses, Delos Hill, George Knott. The bride will wear a recent traveling gown of brown and gray. The bridemaids will wear white organdie, pink picture hats, and carry pink carnations. After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Bloodworth will go to Old Point Comfort in Washington.

Rev. John F. Hollis officiating. The relatives and many friends were present. The bride is a young business woman, and the bride is one of Danville's finest daughters.

Miss Lucille Atkinson gave a most enjoyable ride to her friend, Miss Nell Callaway, of LaGrange, on Friday evening. Among those present were Misses Hallie Pattillo, Ruth Lewis, Willie Smith, Georgia Wilson, Hattie Brown, Carrie Howell, Nell Callaway and Lucille Atkinson, Messrs. Reid, Mills, Willard, Lynnwood, Meador, Mitchell, Lewis, Kitchens, Gregg, Johnson and Crawford.

The groomsmen were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pattillo and Professor Acostino.

ASKED FOR HIS RESIGNATION.

Georgia Railroad Thought Agent Barksdale Had Too Much To Do.

Washington, Ga., September 1.—(Special.) Mr. R. O. Barksdale, agent of the Georgia railroad at this place for the past fourteen years, will on the 15th of this month resign his position.

He was requested by headquarters on yesterday to resign his position or give up his outside business. The company's affairs, Mr. Barksdale is the Washington representative of the Augusta Cotton and Compress Company, of Augusta, Ga.; agent of the Baldwin Fertilizer Company, of Savannah, Ga.; and agent of the Montevideo Coal and Transportation Company, of Birmingham, Ala.

There is much speculation as to who will be the next agent. Mr. W. S. Swinson and Captain C. E. Irvin are spoken of.

Joseph Kestler Wants Damages.

Joseph Kestler filed damages Tuesday in the sum of $20,000 against George E. Murphy, the contractor of the building erected at the corner of Forsyth and Alabama streets. The contractor says he fell through the roof, which was weakened by fire, sustaining injuries of a most serious nature. Kestler is the basis upon which the charges are made.

CARLISLE MAKES REPORT TO DE LOE

Spain's Legal Adviser in This Country Studies the Situation.

DUTIES OF THE UNITED STATES

With Its Friendly Nation of Spain in Regard to Cuba.

SHOULD PREVENT FORMING OF EXPEDITIONS

That Is Within Its Territory, but Cannot Interfere Outside of Its Harbors.

Washington, September 1.—The report of Attorney Calderon Carlisle, of this city, the legal adviser of the Spanish government in this country, to Senator Dupuy De Lome, the Spanish minister, on the subject of the Cuban question in this country with reference to filibustering expeditions, was made public today. It is an exhaustive document of over 600 printed pages and abounds in copious extracts from judicial opinions and documents of various kinds bearing upon the relations of the United States with Spain as regards the Cuban insurrection. Special reference is made to the laws of the United States and proceedings thereunder to prevent expeditions against the lawful government of Spain in Cuba leaving the United States. This is the second report on this line by Mr. Carlisle, the former one having reviewed the attitude of this government toward all nations on the subject of neutrality. The present report deals particularly with the municipal laws of the United States and their construction by the courts, as furnishing the means to the command of the government to prevent what is termed the international duty of the United States, "admitted in principle, at least, by the proclamation of the president." It says that while the practical results of the supreme court decision in the Three Friends case have not been as immediate as might have been expected, it has been of far-reaching importance, the ultimate consequences of which are yet to be seen. In summing up the conclusions of the investigation which Mr. Carlisle has been engaged in, the report says:

A continued study of the neutrality laws of the United States and their application to the existing emergency convinces the undersigned that in spite of the various features of justice and equity which the laws are sufficient in themselves to enable the United States to come up to the full measure of international duty which is required of Great Britain. The following are the conclusions reached:

"1. That the United States now owes to Spain all the international duties which one friendly nation owes to another in times of peace, and can owe no international duty to the insurgents."

"2. That by admitting officially and proclaiming to its citizens and inhabitants the knowledge of the existence of the rebellion in Cuba, the United States admits knowledge of a fact which increases its duty of vigilance in detecting and deterring in preventing the beginning or setting out of providing or preparing the means for military expeditions or enterprises against Spain from being begun or set on foot."

"3. That as to mere commerce Spain can, under present conditions, claim no rights under the law of nations to be purchased or sold outside her harbors, which fact, however, does not prevent her from claiming the obligation of the United States to prevent military expeditions and enterprises against Spain from being begun or set on foot."

"4. That the municipal laws which in themselves, or by reason of the fact that they are administered by municipal, judicial or executive officers, permit the repeated commission of hostile acts, constitute a friendly nation can furnish no justification or extenuation for any international wrong or damage as against such friendly nation."

Estate of Er Lawshe Appraised.

The estate of the late Er Lawshe has been appraised by the board recently appointed for that purpose. The inventory was filed yesterday with the court of ordinary. The total valuation of the estate, as shown by the inventory, is $50,000, including the Peachtree residence. The estate is being administered by Mr. H. C. Leonard, who is executor under the terms of the last will and testament of Mr. Lawshe.

A Legal Firm Set Right.

By a curious typographical error Yeomans & Raines, the well-known lawyers of Dawson, Ga., were referred to in Tuesday's paper as showed negro attorneys. This firm is one of the best known legal firms in the state and the members of it are well known and gentlemen.

Water Commissioners Meet.

The board of water commissioners held their regular monthly meeting at the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon. Only one business was transacted. It was decided to lay water pipe from Georgia avenue along Cherokee avenue into Grant Park. The board has invited the members of council and county commissioners to inspect the two pumping stations of the system next Thursday. The proposed bond issue was fully discussed and all the members are heartily in favor of the plan.

Coalhouse for Park.

The Grant park commission has appropriated $200 for the erection of a coalhouse at the park for storage of fuel in winter. City Engineer Clayton has prepared the plans, and the contract will be let very shortly. The structure will be of brick and will present a neat appearance.

New York, September 1.—The indications from today's market were that prices generally would have suffered a material reaction had it not been for the stimulating effect of the sensational advances shown by individual stocks. Buyers were evidently possessed by a fever of speculation, and the difficulty of moving the prices of most of the leading railroad shares led to these securities being comparatively neglected. Stocks concerning which some favorable prospect was reported, but without definite details and not backed by authority, were chosen as the favorite for speculation. The sensation of the day was the jump in Omaha, this stock touching 82 1/2 in the final transaction. The extreme rise was 10 1/2 points, and the net gain of the day was 10 1/2 points. The stock was not exempt from the depression which weighed on the Grangers, and in fact, on most of the railway list, during the early part of the day, it sold at 10 1/2 per cent from last night's close. By 1 o'clock it had recovered the loss and gained over 2 points, adding 10 1/2 points to the day's advance. The closing price was 10 1/2 per cent from last night's close. To Renewal of Foreign Buying Wheat Owed Its Strength.

CLEARANCES ARE VERY HEAVY

Corn Closed 1/2 Higher After an Enormous Trade—Oats and Provisions Were Firm and Higher.

Chicago, September 1.—All grain and provision markets were strong today, after an opening which rather indicated the opposite condition. The renewal of foreign buying and heavy clearances started in wheat to cover in the old familiar way, and resulted in an advance of 3/4 in December. All the other markets were carried along, corn having the additional help of some decidedly sensational reports from Iowa. Corn advanced 1/2, oats 1/4 and provisions 1/4.

STATE GETS TAGS
AT VERY LOW RATE

Bids for About Four Million Fertilizer
Tags Opened Yesterday.

THE LOWEST WAS 35 CENTS

This Was Made by Hartman Printing Company, of Demorest.

THERE WERE TEN OTHER BIDS HIGHER

Successful Bidders Communicated with
and They May Make Bond
Today.

The bids for four million fertilizer tags
as advertised for by State Commissioner of Agriculture Nesbitt, were opened in the agricultural department yesterday at noon.

The result of the bids is that the state is now offered fertilizer tags at a rate lower than any previously offered. From the little town of Demorest, in north Georgia,

comes a bid offering to furnish the tags
at the rate of 35 cents.

Along with this bid came ten others from across in this state and in New York.
They ranged everywhere from 34 cents to 72 cents, and there was great surprise
when it was announced that the successful bidder made a bid so low as 35 cents.

The successful bidders were the Hartman Printing Company, of Demorest. Commissioner Nesbitt telegraphed them yesterday

to send a representative here for the purpose of signing the bond and to describe the class of goods they propose to furnish the state.

The bids as opened by the commissioner
yesterday were as follows:
A. C. Cunningham, 41 cents, in New York;
S. P. Richards & Co., Atlanta, 53 cents, Delaware.

Empire Printing and Bag Company, Atlanta, 62 cents, delivered.
Empire Printing and Bag Company, Atlanta, other than Demorest, 67 1/2 cents.
Demorest, 67 1/2 cents, delivered.

Thomas Manufacturing Company, Wilmington, 64 cents.
Thomas Manufacturing Company, Wilmington, 64 cents, delivered.

Southern Printing Company, Tocon, 72
cents, delivered.
Hartman Printing Company, Demorest
(successful), 35 cents, delivered.

Byk & Byk Savannah, Demorest, 62
cents, delivered.
Byk & Byk Savannah, Standard A,
64 cents, delivered.

Before the lowest was 54 cents, and went to a firm in Savannah, but it seems that there was some dispute about the matter,
and the committee that was then looking into things over at the statehouse thought tags could be obtained lower. Hence the new bids.

The Cunningham people in New York, who bid 41 cents this time on goods not delivered, were one of the concerns that Mr. Nesbitt thought could furnish tags at a very low rate.

The tags to be furnished by the company which was successful are to be Dunston G, or their equal. Commissioner Nesbitt stated yesterday that if the company did not furnish a tag of fine quality
it would refuse to let them take the contract and call for new bids.

The representatives of the other concerns
who were present when the bids were opened and heard the price asked for by the Demorest people seemed to think that they could not furnish tags at that low rate.

Demorest's representative was heard to say that he was of the opinion that Demost's tags could not be furnished at 35 cents. Mr. Byk, of the Savannah firm, also stated that he did not think any but his inferior tag could be furnished at that rate.

The arrival of the representative of the Demorest people and the closing of the contract with the state will therefore be swayed with interest by all those who have watched the tag since the recent discussion
about it was raised.

WELDON, ARK., Feb. 26th.

I have been very sick with woman's troubles and after treatment by two doctors without relief, my husband brought me a bottle of Mc-Eree's Wine of Cardui. I was better after the third dose, and now I am able to be up.

MARGARET GUINN.

BOLIVAR, ALA., AUG. 12th.

I suffered two years with female troubles and could find nothing to relieve me. Finally, McEree's Wine of Cardui and Black Draught were recommended and they quickly did
for me all that you say they will do.

MRS. OLLIE RHEA.

One bottle of Wine of Cardui will often do more for a woman suffering from female troubles than twenty doctor's visits. A few doses of this pure Wine frequently brings complete relief after doctors have failed.
Two thousand women buy Wine of Cardui every day. They take it for "whites", falling of the womb, menstrual suppression, flooding, change of life, and monthly pains in the head, back and limbs. And nearly every one of them is permanently cured. No other medicine has such a record as that. No woman should despair of finding relief. Try Wine of Cardui. You can take it in the privacy of your own home. It is the best remedy for "female troubles" known to medical science. The price is $1.00 at drug stores.

Pretty Words Pass Between the President and Nicholas.

WELL WISHES FOR RUSSIA

Sent in a Telegram by the Frenchman
on Reaching Home.

THANKS RUSSIANS FOR KIND TREATMENT

Czar Nicholas, in Reply, Assures Faure
That His Visit Will Ever Be a Pleasant Memory.

Paris, September 1.—It was given out today that upon the arrival of President Faure at Dunkirk, yesterday morning, he sent a dispatch to the czar, saying:

"At the moment I place my feet once more upon the soil of France, my first thought is for your majesty, her majesty,
the empress, and the whole Russian nation.
The Russian and French republics have been the president of the republic calls out thoroughly. France a feeling of emotion and joy. It will live in our hearts as an indelible memory. I beg your majesty thanks and the wishes I entertain for your majesty's happiness and that of the empress
and the imperial family, for the grandeur
and prosperity of Russia."

The czar replied to this message as follows:

"The empress and myself are extremely grateful for your kind words just sent to us. It is with pleasure that I shall preserve the memory of the visit paid by the president of the republic to Russia, whose heart has once more been united in union with that of France."

EMPEROR WILLIAM SPEAKS AT THE UN-VEILING OF A MONUMENT.

Coblenz, September 1.—Emperor William, in proposing a toast to the Rhine province at the Provincial banquet held here last evening, after the unveiling by his majesty of the equestrian monument
to the emperor of the French, said:

"The unveiling of the Rhine and the Moselle, made a long speech on the subject of his grandfather, during the course of which he said:
"My grandfather went forth from Coblenz to mount the throne as the chosen instrument of the lord and as such regarded himself. For all of us, more especially for us princes, he raised the throne upon more or high, crowning it with the brightness of the treasure which may we ever preserve. It is his sublimity and holiness, I mean the kingdom of God, the kingdom
with its heavy duties, its sacred responsibility, its sacred responsibility to the Creator from which no man, no minister, no prince, no king, no emperor can release the prince. For me it will be a sacred duty, all following in the ways which the great ruler has shown us, and in solidarity for my country to hold my protecting hand over this splendid jewel in the tradition which has descended to us and which remains stronger than iron—yet, even stronger than the walls of Ehrenbreit-stein, the heart of the father of his country and wish, with all my heart, that his people may grow under the protection of long-lasting peace."

SUSPENDS SALE OF EXCHANGE.

India Serves Notice to the Bank of England.

London, September 1.—The following notice was posted on the Bank of England
today:

"The secretary of state for India, in council, has notice of the Bank of India,
of exchange on Calcutta, Bombay and Madras has been suspended for a period
of one month, commencing on the 1st inst.

The action of the Indian council has attracted but little notice in the Indian papers and has not affected the rate of exchange, which is normal.

The Western Mail, commenting on the subject, says:

"The decision was altogether unexpected,
being the outcome of the financial situation in India."

The government has very little money
in India to draw on, owing to the famine
and the plague having rendered the collection of revenue slow. The present time may be opportune to accustom the Indians to the use of gold instead of silver, although it would not have been attempted had not the scarcity of money arisen.

The council may refuse to draw alter-gether, thus sending exchanges up to the gold point and rendering possible the establishment of the gold standard in India."

COLLECTORS ARE GOING.

Secretary Brown, of the waterworks department, is very much interested in the good collection that have been made for the last month, which amounted to $7,943.32.
This is one of the best collections that the department has made this year. The total collections for the year so far amount to $28,725.

BOMB MAY BURST TODAY.

Colored Masons May Reach the End of Their Controversy.

The bomb that has been skimming the city for the week promises to burst today.
The most worships grand master of the York Rites, Captain W. D. Matthews, will deliver his address on the true origin of colored Masonry in the United States.

This has been looked forward to by the state rites Masons, as he is expected to attack them and attempt to prove that they are illegitimate and do not hold their charter from the national association. A large audience of the York rites will be present to hear it. The meeting is secret and no others will be admitted. The convention adjourns today.

Stole a Suit of Clothes.

Sam Smith, a negro who stole a suit of clothes, was bound over by Judge Fouts
yesterday morning in default of a $200 bond. Thomas (man) was bound over for larceny and sent to jail on default of a $100 bond. Alf Hursey and Charles Reynolds were bound over for the same offense. Reynolds was employed at the residence of Mrs. Kate Davis when he and another negro entered the house and stole a purse with $20 in it. His accomplice has not been caught.

Troops To Go Into Camp.

The first battalion of the United States
troops will go into camp on the rifle range at Waco on September 6th. They leave the fort tomorrow and it will take them
about three days to make the trip.

The second battalion has just returned from a month's stay there, and the first goes to take their place. They will be under the command of Major Carter.

SAY GOODBYS AT BANQUET BOARD

Retiring Superintendent of A. & W. P.
Given a Rousing Send-Off.

HEAD OFFICIALS ALL PRESENT

Handsome Testimonial Presented Him
from the Officials.

MR. DOWNS ASSUMES HIS NEW DUTIES

Will Be Located at Montgomery and Will Superintend Joint Roads.

Mr. Joseph Herrin went out of office as superintendent of the Atlanta and West Point and Western Railway of Alabama railroads yesterday and was succeeded by Mr. F. T. Downs, who has heretofore been the assistant superintendent of these roads.

It was an event in the history of these lines. Mr. Herrin has been in this position for three years, and he has done much to build up the road and keep it in order. Mr.
Downs has been his active assistant for many years and succeeds to his new position thoroughly equipped for his work.

A parting banquet was given to Mr.
Herrin in Montgomery on Tuesday night,
at which all the officers of the roads were present and expressed their most heartfelt sorrow at losing such an efficient officer.

Those present when the goodbyes were said were: Mr. George C. Smith, president and general manager; Mr. R. P. Pace, purchasing agent; Mr. T. J. Hunter, auditor; Mr. B. F. Wyly, general agent; Mr.
P. T. Downs, assistant superintendent; Mr.
R. H. Johnson, master mechanic; Mr. R. E.
Lutz, freight traffic manager; Mr. W. J.
Taylor, general agent; Mr. P. G. Bennett, chief clerk; Mr. John A. Geay, general passenger agent; Mr. W. H. Micou and Dr.
Glenn Andrews, local surgeon.

A very appetizing menu was disposed of,
after which the real feeling of the parting came out. President Smith in a few words expressed the regret of the companies to give up Mr. Herrin. He was followed by Mr. R. T. Pace, of this city, who said many nice things and expressed many regrets at the loss. He continued, "Therefore, on behalf of the officers of the Atlanta and West Point and the Western Railway of Alabama,
we tender you this chest." The chest contained a magnificent silver service of 108 pieces. Mr. W. H. Micou then rose and on behalf of the Tallahassee and Montgomery railroad, presented him with a beautiful set of ten elegant gold spoons.

The popular superintendent of the roads overcame at the kind remembrances of his friends that he was so soon to leave.

His successor, Mr. Downs, has risen from the place of a trainman to his new position, and he will prove a good officer. He has been in the employ of the Atlanta and West Point for many years, and is thoroughly familiar with his new charge. He assumed his duties yesterday.

The office of assistant superintendent will be abolished by the new plan, and they have created a new office known as "resident engineer," with headquarters at Montgomery. Mr. G. F. Huggins has been appointed to this important position, and will have charge under the direction of the superintendent of the maintenance of track, roadway, bridges and buildings.

WILL CAUSE A GREAT HOWL.

That the pathway of the above measure will not be strewn with roses there is little doubt. It will take a good deal of engineering to convince council that the ordinance should pass. Mr. Lumpkin, however, is nifty. He thinks the measure a just one, and will exert every effort to have it passed. He has strong backing, and as he is one of the most influential members of council, it is to be expected that he will have a good chance for passage. This, however, is decidedly speculative. The mayor does not seem to be disposed to favor the ordinance, and the officials mostly interested will wage a deadly war against the same. The fight gives promise of being a lively one.

The full text of the resolution is as follows:

"Resolved, by the mayor and general council, that the salaries of the chartered officers of the city of Atlanta, Georgia, be reduced, and that to that end the commissioner on ordinances and legislation be hereby requested to frame a bill to be presented to council, which shall reduce the salary of the city comptroller $2,000; city
attorney, $2,000; assistant city attorney, $1,000; city engineer, $2,000; same will be the effect at the end of the present term."

Mr. Lumpkin realizes he is going to have the fight of his life in the passage of this resolution. He is a man of his convictions, however, and when he thinks a thing is right he will fight for it to the last. He has given this matter much thought, and has concluded that if it was right to cut the salaries of the other officials last spring, it is nothing but right
to cut the balance now.

What Mr. Lumpkin Says.

"I am going to introduce that resolution in council next Monday," said Mr. Lumpkin yesterday afternoon, "and exert every effort to have it passed. I believe it is right—nothing but justice to the other city officials. I admit this is rather a roundabout way to accomplish this end, but it is practicable, and I think council will finally see it in this light."

"I do not believe in the principle of cutting the salaries of the officials who do the real work and allow those who are more able to stand a cut and who do less work to get the money. It is unjust to cut the firemen, policemen and school teachers and let the big officials escape. If you cut at all, cut all. The reason given for the escape of Anderson, Goldsmith, Westmoreland and Clayton last spring was because they are chartered officers. I say if this is the case, change
the charter and cut them as the others
have been cut."

"The salaries drawn by these men are too much anyway. It is more than they are worth. Take Judge Anderson. He gets $3,000 a year—more than the governor of Georgia, more than the mayor of the city. He has his law practice besides, which is one of the most lucrative in the city. There is positively no use paying him that much money. If it is the case that the poor school teacher, who is only getting $40 a month. There are non-chartered officers in this city who ought to be cut also. The mayor's salary, I think, is right;
he deserves every cent of it."

Mayor Does Not Favor Resolution.

Mr. Lumpkin's resolution will probably be vetoed if it ever gets into the clutch
of Mayor Collier.

"In the first place," said the mayor, yesterday afternoon, "I think Mr. Lumpkin is wrong in his method of securing a reduction in salaries. True, the men he mentioned are chartered officers, but their salaries are fixed by the council, not by the state. It is entirely within the power of the council to reduce the salaries of the members of the council. In fact, these salaries will be fixed by the council this fall."

"Moreover, I do not think the salaries of these men should be reduced. They certainly earn every cent of what they are paid. Take the case of Judge Anderson, for
